2nd Verse

Just capturing the moments spontaneities the key

Where ever the journey takes us what will be is what will be

So I'll just keep it gentle and love you as a friend

I can hear it in the music the futures just around the bend

The adrenalin within me keeps me awake

Deep inside I think you know it's a risk that we can't take

Still I'm allowed to daydream of resting in your arms

Of letting go of worries and seducing you with charms

Sadly too much here reminds me of where Ive been before though I'm in another hallway, an your another door
